Kniziathon

* Come and Play as little or as much as you want ****

On Sunday running almost all day is Kniziathon. A Kniziathon is a tournament where you play a collection of different games designed by Reiner Knizia. If you are unfamiliar with Reiner Knizia or his games, don't worry, come play anyway. You will quickly learn how many different fun games have been designed by Reiner Knizia and why there is a "-thon" in his name. The Kniziathon will run from 10:00 am until 5:00 pm. You don't have to be there for the whole time, you can come and join the tournament and play games at any time. Each game you play will earn you points based on how well you did in the game. The winner of each game will earn the most points, but second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth place players in each game earn points too. You can play just one game or you can play all the games to earn as many points as possible. Each different game you play will increase your points, because even the last place player in a game earns a point. Each game available to play only counts to your score once, so play as many different games as possible.

The games available to play will be:

Beowulf The Movie
Black Sheep
Gem Dealer
High Society
Ingenious Challenge Card
Samurai
Master's Gallery
Money

You don't have to know how to play all the games, or even any of them, the games will be taught to all players. New games stop by 5:00, then at 6:00pm we will award the First Place, Second Place, and Third Place prizes.

Child's Play

Gamers Give Back

This year's selected charity is Child's Play. Child's Play was founded in 2003 to provide toys and games to children in a network of hospitals around the world. Their mission is to improve the lives of children who are in hospitals by providing entertainment and interaction with peers, friends and family to help distract them from an otherwise generally unpleasant experience. Friday April 5th - Noon

Spades (A deck o' cards)

Table 11

The classic game of spades. Play a card following the suit, or trump with a spades card. A Pretz (and now a PretzCON) tradition.

1 hour for 4 players
Game Master: Ryan Pretz

Lifeboat

Table 37

You are one of several people adrift at sea sharing an Edwardian lifeboat with your most beloved friend, your worst enemy, and a few other shifty characters. Each turn, you'll take an action – row, change seats, mug somebody, use something special, or do nothing. At the end of the turn, a Navigation card will reveal who goes overboard and/or gets thirsty. If you see birds, you're getting closer to land! Will you be desperate enough to resort to the controversial Cannibalism card? This is a game for between 4 and 8 players. The more the merrier.

2 hours for 8 players
Game Master: Jordan Fetters

Dominion

Table 14

Yep starting out PretzCON with a favorite. I have everything published for the game so come play!

2 hours for 6 players
Game Master: Geoff Berman

Friday April 5th - 1:00 PM

Hearts (A deck o' cards)

Table 11

Don't take tricks with hearts. The opposite of Spades. Still classic. Like PretzCON, but with heart... Get it... Ok, never mind. See ya there

1 hour for 4 players
Game Master: Ryan Pretz

Citadels

Table 12

Each player attempts to complete their city of 8 buildings, but trying to keep the other players down. Better buildings are worth more gold, and no matter who completes their city first, the most gold wins. The best aspect of play is that there are several different characters with special attributes and each round of play allows for the players to be a different character! Hint, the Merchant is awesome, but the Thief always steals from the Merchant. :) Rules taught, all levels of experience welcome.

KantCon is a gaming convention for tabletop hobby gamers in the Kansas City area, created by tabletop hobby gamers in the Kansas City area. The only available gaming conventions and large gatherings of gamers in the Kansas City area are limited to the beginning of the year, and the end of the year, in March and November, respectively. As most gamers are increasingly busy, in school, or have children in school, there is a void of a centralized gaming convention in the summer months in Kansas City. KantCon will fill that void with three days of tabletop fun in the form of tabletop role-playing games, card games, board games, and miniatures games.

The first KantCon was held in 2009 at a home in Shawnee, Kansas. It was an invitation-only event born out of the organizer's inability to go to Gen Con, the largest gaming convention in the United States held every August in Indianapolis, Indiana.

The name KantCon was decided on because the organizer couldn't go to his yearly con. Therefore, his "Can't Con" became KantCon.

Approximately 30 people came to KantCon 2009, and over $1,500 worth of products donated by participating gaming companies Wizards of the Coast, Rio Grande Games, Pinnacle Entertainment Group, and others were given away to the 30 attendees over the course of the weekend. Several games were run for those attending, and a fun time was had by all.

Everyone asked if it would happen the next year, so plans were made to open it to the public and to get a public venue to see if there was an interest in a summertime gaming convention in the Kansas City area.

On July 9-11, KantCon 2010 was held at the Johnson County Community College Regnier Center. Over the course of the three days, 110 gamers came from as far away as Mt. Gilead, Ohio to participate in role-playing games, card games, board games, miniatures games, and the kind of camaraderie that all gamers love and enjoy.

In 2013, KantCon moved to the Crowne Plaza Hotel in Overland Park, KS.

Over $3,000 worth of donated product from various game companies across the world were raffled off and awarded to players at the convention, supplemented by vendors like Gamer Ground in St. Louis, Missouri, Secret Skeleton Miniatures from Lenexa, Kansas, and Black Blade Publishing from Wichita, Kansas who came out and sold miniatures, dice, books, and other products to convention attendees.

The convention has continued to grow ever since, with more events, more board games, and more fun!

PFRPG Module: We Be Goblins!
(Pathfinder Society)

Table 46

The Licktoad goblins of Brinestump Marsh have stumbled upon a great treasure—fireworks! Yet unfortunately for them, the tribe member responsible for the discovery has already been exiled for the abhorrent crime of writing (which every goblin knows steals words from your head). To remedy this situation, the Licktoads' leader, His Mighty Girthness Chief Rendwattle Gutwad, has declared that the greatest heroes of the tribe must venture forth to retrieve the rest of the fireworks from a derelict ship stranded in the marsh. In order to prove themselves as the Licktoads' bravest goblins, the PCs must complete a series of dangerous dares, from swallowing bull slugs and braving the dreaded Earbiter to dancing with Squealy Nord himself. Yet even once they've proven their mettle, the adventure is just beginning. For the ship in question is far from uninhabited, and Vorka the cannibal goblin would like nothing better than a few tasty visitors....

Unfortunately, the estate hasn't sat empty as long as the Blakroses think it has, and its recent inhabitants were anything but the devil-worshippers who originally built the manor.

Chaos in the Old World makes you a god. Each god's distinctive powers and legion of followers grant you unique strengths and diabolical abilities with which to corrupt and enslave the Old World. • Khorne, the Blood God, the Skultaker, lusts for death and battle. • Nurgle, the Plague Lord, the Father of Corruption, luxuriates in filth and disease. • Tzeentch, the Changer of Ways, the Great Conspirator, plots the fate of the universe. • Slaanesh, the Prince of Pleasure and Pain, the Lord of Temptations, lures even the most steadfast to his six deadly seductions. Yet, as you and your fellow powers of Chaos seek domination by corruption and conquest, you must vie not only against each other, but also against the desperate denizens of the Old World who fight to banish you back to the maelstrom of the Realm of Chaos. Chaos in the Old World features three ways to win, and gives you an unparalleled opportunity to reshape the world in your image. Snake Oil

(Out of the Box Publishing)

In the Old West, the wily snake oil salesman had a special talent, getting the most skeptical customers to buy the most dubious products. Now it's your turn! Invent your own zany two-word products – Rumor Mirror! Burp Balloon! – and sell them to all types of wacky customers. If the round's customer buys your product, you win! To set up, each player takes six purple word cards. The customer for the round draws a red customer card and announces it. Inventors quickly combine two purple word cards from their hand to form a crazy new product to sell to that customer. When ready, they put their two word cards face down on the table. In clockwise order, each inventor quickly pitches his or her product directly to the customer. The customer can end any pitch that goes longer than 30 seconds. The customer decides which product to buy and gives the inventor of that product the round's customer card as the prize. Inventors discard all used word cards and take two new word cards each. The player to the left of the customer becomes the next round's customer. Play repeats until each player has been the customer once or until we're bored. :) Whoever collects the most customer cards wins.. It's fun. I swear.

Small World

Table 11

In Small World, players vie for conquest and control of a world that is simply too small to accommodate them all. Designed by Philippe Keyaerts as a fantasy follow-up to his award-winning Vinci, Small World is inhabited by a zany cast of characters such as dwarves, wizards, amazons, giants, orcs, and even humans, who use their troops to occupy territory and conquer adjacent lands in order to push the other races off the face of the earth. Picking the right combination from the 14 different fantasy races and 20 unique special powers, players rush to expand their empires – often at the expense of weaker neighbors. Yet they must also know when to push their own over-extended civilization into decline and ride a new one to victory!

Fiasco*Table 30*

THINGS CAN GO WRONG, FAST... Maybe some dude from youth group talked you into boosting a case of motor oil, but now your cousin is dead in a swamp and you killed him. Maybe you and your girlfriend figured you could scare your wife into a divorce, but things went pear-shaped and now a gang of cranked-up Mexicans with latex gloves and a pit bull are looking for you. It seemed like such a good idea at the time. Fiasco is inspired by cinematic tales of small time capers gone disastrously wrong – inspired by films like Blood Simple, Fargo, The Way of the Gun, Burn After Reading, and A Simple Plan. You'll play ordinary people with powerful ambition and poor impulse control. There will be big dreams and flawed execution. It won't go well for them, to put it mildly, and in the end it will probably all go south in a glorious heap of jealousy, murder, and recrimination. Lives and reputations will be lost, painful wisdom will be gained, and if you are really lucky, your guy just might end up back where he started. FIASCO is an award-winning, GM-less game for 3-5 players, designed to be played in a few hours with six-sided dice and no preparation. During a game you will engineer and play out stupid, disastrous situations, usually at the intersection of greed, fear, and lust. It's like making your own Coen brothers movie, in about the same amount of time it'd take to watch one.

Fiasco

Table 30

THINGS CAN GO WRONG, FAST... Maybe some dude from youth group talked you into boosting a case of motor oil, but now your cousin is dead in a swamp and you killed him. Maybe you and your girlfriend figured you could scare your wife into a divorce, but things went pear-shaped and now a gang of cranked-up Mexicans with latex gloves and a pit bull are looking for you. It seemed like such a good idea at the time. Fiasco is inspired by cinematic tales of small time capers gone disastrously wrong – inspired by films like Blood Simple, Fargo, The Way of the Gun, Burn After Reading, and A Simple Plan. You'll play ordinary people with powerful ambition and poor impulse control. There will be big dreams and flawed execution. It won't go well for them, to put it mildly, and in the end it will probably all go south in a glorious heap of jealousy, murder, and recrimination. Lives and reputations will be lost, painful wisdom will be gained, and if you are really lucky, your guy just might end up back where he started. FIASCO is an award-winning, GM-less game for 3-5 players, designed to be played in a few hours with six-sided dice and no preparation. During a game you will engineer and play out stupid, disastrous situations, usually at the intersection of greed, fear, and lust. It's like making your own Coen brothers movie, in about the same amount of time it'd take to watch one.

PFRPG Module: The Godsmouth Heresy (1-2) (Pathfinder Society)

Table 46

Deep below the anarchic city of Kaer Maga, someone—or some thing—has begun stealing corpses from the city's most prestigious tomb, the Godsmouth Ossuary. Fearing the worst, the clerics of Pharama in charge of maintaining the crypts quietly call for aid, not wanting to risk their own members in combating whatever horrors may have crept in from the tunnels and hidden chambers of the legendary Undercity. Yet when the PCs venture below the closed-off sections of the crypt, what they find may be more than they bargained for. For beneath the infamous crypt lies a temple from an ancient empire devoted to sin, and a former Pharasmin cleric who's weathered his goddess's wrath to create an army of undead minions, their dead flesh standing ready to support his heretical plans. Note that this is a module, which takes more time than a standard society scenario. Players should expect it to take 8-10 hours.

That they can keep anything other than the ex-Pathfinder's locket makes the assignment all the sweeter.

For the past year, the Pathfinder Society has used the isolated demiplane contained in the Hao Jin Tapestry as a private adventuring realm and, since discovering a backdoor out of the demiplane, as a shortcut from the tapestry's location to a hidden corner of Varisia. But the tapestry wasn't designed for this purpose, and travel from Absalom to Varisia could be more efficient. Now a team of Pathfinders must discover how the infamous sorcerer known as the Ruby Phoenix created her private demiplane and enter the heart of the tapestry and alter the very nature of the magical realm.

Nexus Ops is a light-medium science fiction war game. The game boasts a hexagonal board that is set up differently every time, as well as cool "glow" miniatures and lots of combat. Players control competing futuristic corporations that battle each other for control of the moon's Rubium Ore. By winning battles and fulfilling Secret Missions, you can obtain victory points. Units are composed of various alien races and have stats similar to those used in the Axis & Allies series. Combat is also similar. Players who lose battles are compensated with Energize cards which grant them special powers later. Players can also obtain Energize cards by controlling the Monolith, a raised structure in the center of the grid. The first person to reach the required number of victory points wins the game.
